Conference topics

ESORICS is the annual European research event in Computer Security. The Symposium started in 1990 and has been held in several European countries, attracting a wide international audience from both the academic and industrial communities.

Papers offering novel research contributions in computer security are solicited for submission to the Symposium. The primary focus is on original, high quality, unpublished research and implementation experiences. Submitted papers must not substantially overlap with papers that have been published or that are simultaneously submitted to a journal or a conference with proceedings. We encourage submissions of papers discussing industrial research and development. Papers should focus on topics such as:

Access Control	Privacy Enhancing Technologies
Accountability	Risk Analysis and Management
Anonymity	Secure Electronic Voting
Applied Cryptography	Security Architectures
Attacks and Viral Software	Security Economics
Authentication and Delegation	Security for Mobile Code
Data Integrity	Security for Dynamic Coalitions
Database Security	Security in Location Services
Inference Control	Security in Social Networks
Identity Management	Security Models
Information Flow Control	Security Verification
Intrusion Tolerance	System Security
Formal Security Methods	Trust Models and Management
Language-based Security	Trust Theories
Network Security	Trustworthy User Devices

After the symposium, extended versions of selected papers will be considered for publication in a major security-focused journal. Those papers will need to undergo another round of review.

Instructions for paper submission

The proceedings will be published by Springer in the LNCS Series. All submissions should follow the LNCS template from the time they are submitted. They should be at most 16 pages (using 11-point font), excluding the bibliography and well-marked appendices. Committee members are not required to read the appendices, so the paper should be intelligible without them. All submissions must be written in English.

Authors must submit their papers by the deadline indicated below, using the symposium web site (www.esorics2010.org) and following the requirements stated there.

All accepted papers should be presented at the Symposium; therefore, their authors must be prepared to sign a copyright transfer statement. At least one author of each accepted paper must register to the symposium, by the early date indicated by the organizers, and present the paper.

Important dates

Submission of papers:	April 1, 2010
Notification to authors:	June 10, 2010
Camera-ready copies:	June 30, 2010
